Chalder Station

The weed control matting we installed last year has considerably improved the appearance of the platform. But while we await permission from the Church Commissioners to progress the restoration of the station we still need to keep on top of the undergrowth. Hence another work party has been arranged for

Tramway Walks

Rail 200 celebrates 200 years since the first passenger train in this country in 1825. In addition to our own anniversary of the first Selsey Tram in August there will also be another walk in the Spring. Details to follow. Copies of the guide, including the route of Tramway walk are available at the Novium museum and on the website:
